

An aerial photograph of a coastal town, likely in the Pacific Northwest, showing a mix of residential, commercial, and recreational areas. A yellow line is drawn across the image, highlighting a specific area of interest along the waterfront. This area includes a marina with several boats, a parking lot, and some commercial buildings. The town is situated on a peninsula or near a large body of water, with a forested hillside to the left and a large, dark body of water to the right. Various sports fields, including a baseball field and several soccer fields, are visible in the lower-left quadrant. The overall scene depicts a well-developed coastal community with a focus on waterfront development.
